NO BALLOT HAS BEEN TAKEN.

Nominating Speeches Occupied the Time Until After Midnight—Wild Scenes of Enthusiasm Followed the Presentation of Each Name—The Outcome Is Still Only Guesswork—After Six Hours of Heated Debate the Platform as Reported From the Committee on Resolutions Was Adopted—The Final Vote Stood 628 to 401—Proceedings of the Two Sessions.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Ten acres of people on the sloping sides of the Coliseum yesterday saw the silver helmeted gladiators in this arena overpower the gold phalanxes and plant the banner of silver upon the ramparts of Democracy. They saw what may prove the disruption of a great political party amid scenes of enthusiasm such as perhaps never before occurred in a national convention. They saw 20,000 people with imagination flamed by the burning words of passionate oratory swayed like wind swept fields; they heard the awful roar of 20,000 voices burst like a volcano against the reverberating dome overhead. They saw a man carried upon the shoulders of others intoxicated with enthusiasm amid tumult and turbulence. They listened to appeals, to threats, to cries for mercy and finally they watched the jubilant majority seal its victory and the vanquished stalk sullenly forth into the daylight.

The battle for the supremacy of Democratic principles was fought out in a session that lasted from 11 o'clock in the morning until shortly before 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Each side sent its champions to the forum. Senator Tillman of South Carolina, Senator Jones of Arkansas, ex-Congressman William Jennings of Nebraska crossed swords with Senator Hill of New York, Senator Vilas of Wisconsin and ex-Governor Russell of Massachusetts.

The sinister looking senator from the state of Calhoun, with his eyes blazing defiance at an audience which manifested its unfriendliness by a storm of hisses opened the debate with a wildly passionate speech in which he affirmed that the battle for the restoration of silver was a war for the emancipation of the white slaves of the war of 1860 had been one for the emancipation of the black slaves.

Senator Vilas, who was postmaster general under Cleveland's first administration, bitterly denounced what he termed an attempt to launch the party on a career so wild that the world stood aghast. With a wave of his arm that was full of impressive portent, he sounded his warning: "Somewhere in this country," said he, "there may be some Murat, some Danton, some Robespierre, but we will not follow them into another French revolution."

Ex-Governor Russell, the Massachusetts statesman, who has thrice carried the standard of Democracy to victory in the Old Bay state, pleaded for a word of concession, of conciliation, and concluded with a solemn warning that the country, if not the convention, would listen.

Demonstration followed demonstration at frequent intervals throughout these speeches, but it was Senator Hill who aroused the gold forces to their wildest enthusiasm, and Bryan, the boy orator of the Platte, who set the silver men aflight. The demonstration for Hill, who with close logic and trenchant blade sought the very heart contention as he bitterly assailed as un-Democratic the new creed which the majority was to proclaim, lasted about 15 minutes. Although more protracted than that which greeted Bryan, it was of a different nature. The latter was the spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm kindled by the touch of magnetic eloquence.

The star of the brilliant young orator from the plains of Nebraska has burned brightly on the horizon of the convention for two days. There were several demonstrations in his behalf Wednesday, but this was the first opportunity he had to show himself. His audience had been warmed up and was full of pent-up enthusiasm. The powder magazine needed but the spark and Bryan applied it with the skill of genius. His very appearance captured the audience.

His speech was a masterpiece of fervid oratory, with consummate eloquence he stated the case of silver and parried the arguments of the gold men. Marie Antony never applied the match with more effect. The convention took fire with enthusiasm. It crackled as by the war of flames. Hill was forgotten, all else was forgotten for the moment. Cheers swelled to yells, yells became screams. Every chair in the vast Coliseum and every chair in the vast wilderness on the hillside became a rock on which frantic men and women were wildly waving handkerchiefs, canes, hats and umbrellas, anything moveable. Some were like men demented, divested themselves of their coats and flung them high in the air.

A delegate uprooted the purple standard of his state and bore it frantically to the place where arose the standard of Nebraska. Others followed the example. Two-thirds of the state standards were torn from their sockets and carried as trophies to Nebraska, where they were held in midair. A dozen delegates rushed upon the stage and shouldered the half-dazed orator and bore him in triumph down the aisle. Louder and louder shrieked the thousands until the volume of sound broke like a gigantic wave and fell, only to rise and break again. For almost 15 minutes this maddened tumult continued, while the delegates with the state standards paraded the enclosure. Old political generals were stupefied. If the ballot for the nomination had been taken then it would have been a stampede.

When it was all over the votes were taken first on the minority substitute for the platform offered by Senator Hill which was defeated—636 to 303; then on the resolution to endorse the administration which was beaten—357 to 64, and lastly on the adoption of the platform which was carried—628 to 301. Senator Tillman, after the rejection of the resolution to endorse the administration, withdrew his resolution to censure the administration.

The convention then adjourned until 8 o'clock.

NIGHT SESSION.

The Most Dramatic Act of the Convention So Far.

CHICAGO, July 10.—The night session furnished all the preliminary incidents of the most dramatic act of the convention. It was by long odds the most spectacular, for as the hands of the clock were creeping on toward the appointed hour of 8 when the president making was to begin, the great banks of seats filled with the biggest crowd which has yet secured admission, for the first time filling the galleries and attaining the Chicago standard of bigness.

Outside other hundreds were clamoring before the doors and stirring up stifling clouds of dust which hung over the scene like smoke; the trolleys and elevated cars and special trains were emptying thousands, the streets were a mass of cabs, carriages and bicycles. Inside the incandescent lights, hung high up on the iron rafters, cast patches of glare and shadow on the rough acres of heads. Three brazen bands from their different stations clamored away upon patriotic melodies and as state delegations entered were shrilly cheered, while the familiar face of each leader was given an ovation of his own.

It was 8:32 before the acting chairman, Mr. Richardson, rapped long and loud, and then failing to bring order out of the confused murmur of many voices, the scuffle of feet and the shouting of orders by the subordinates, appealed to the crowds to "respect the gavel." Sergeant-at-arms Martin came to the front of the platform and called loudly to his aids to restore order and clear the aisles. It took five minutes to secure a semblance of order.

Senator Jones of Arkansas gained recognition and moved that the convention proceed to the nomination of a candidate for president of the United States. It was carried with a roar, the galleries adding a round of applause in recognition of the actual opening of the contest.

Chairman Richardson announced that by agreement the roll of states would be called for the presentation of candidates. Alabama was first to be called, and the chairman announced that the state would pass for the present. Arkansas came next.

"Arkansas yields to Senator Vest of Missouri," shouted Senator Jones, and there was a wave of applause from the Bland adherents.

Senator Vest then stepped upon the platform and began his speech nominating Bland. His first mention of the name of Bland brought out a short demonstration, but the senator's closing words were the signal for another Bland demonstration, this time long, loud and enthusiastic. A banner bearing the well known face of "Silver Dick" was hoisted in the middle aisle. The convention rose en masse, men cheered and waved hats and handkerchiefs. A large Bland banner was carried down and placed on the platform.

From every quarter of the hall Bland banners made their appearance, some bearing his picture, others 16 to 1, and others voicing the "invincible and irresistible" sentiments of the Missouri candidate. Meanwhile the wild clamor continued. One man far up among the spectators turned an umbrella inside out and waved it madly. The bearers of banners and transparencies formed in twos and fours and circled the hall. To add to the great volume of sound both bands played simultaneously. It was 14 minutes before Chairman

Richardson attempted to check the demonstration.

Governor Overmeyer of Kansas then took the platform and made the seconding speech for Mr. Bland.

Ex-Congressman John R. Williams of Illinois followed Overmeyer in seconding Bland's nomination.

With the close of Mr. Williams' speech the roll was resumed. On the call of California, the chairman, Mr. W. W. Foote, announced that the 18 votes of that state were instructed for Stephen M. White, but under the positive request of Mr. White his name would not be presented.

Ex-Governor Waller of Connecticut announced that the Connecticut delegation was in conference and desired to be passed for the present.

Ex-Senator Patrick Walsh spoke when Georgia was called, announcing that the delegation had selected Colonel H. T. Lewis to nominate the man for whom Georgia would vote. No one knew whom Mr. Lewis intended to name, so the elements of uncertainty clouding his purpose gave him a close hearing, and when the name of William J. Bryan of Nebraska was mentioned it exploded another mine of the same fiery sort which the Nebraskan had inflamed with his own oratory a few hours before. Three or four state delegations were on their chairs leading the cheer with the lungs of scattering delegates from other states abetting him. Nebraska seemed to furnish the galleries with a hero, for they were making the great chorus of the noise.

The blue banner with the placard, "William J. Bryan Club of Nebraska; 16 to 1," emblazoned in silver letters was lifted above Nebraska's seats. The standards of Georgia, North Carolina, Louisiana, Michigan and South Dakota rallied around the blue and silver emblem and then the standard bearers started a march around the pit. Men in the California and Virginia stalls pounced upon their emblems intending to follow the procession, but their colleagues resisted the attack and they gave it up. Two bands intensified the din and a foghorn was blown with tremendous wailing up under the roof.

When order was partially restored W. C. Clutz of North Carolina, a young orator of strong voice, took the platform in behalf of William J. Bryan of Nebraska.

He was followed by George Fred Williams of Massachusetts who seconded the nomination of Bryan.

Thomas J. Kernan, in behalf of Louisiana, also seconded the nomination in a strong speech.

When Indiana was announced Senator Turpie made his way to the stage and placed in nomination the choice of the Hoosier state, Governor Claude Matthews. Senator Turpie suffers from palsy, and though a most effective speaker in the senate, his voice was inadequate in such a vast hall. Besides he spoke from manuscript. The galleries grew noisy and he could hardly be heard above the din. To add to the utter unfortunate circumstances fireworks and mortars were being fired outside the Coliseum, and these explosives added to the disturbance.

When at last Senator Turpie mentioned the name of the Indiana candidate the Hoosier delegation mounted their chairs and cheered. A few tin horns sounded from the galleries and here and there a flag was waved, but the demonstration was brief.

There was comparative quiet when Oscar A. Tippet of California seconded the nomination of Governor Matthews.

Delegate Frederick White of Iowa placed Horace Boies in nomination. Mr. White, who looked like a plain farmer, proved to be a forcible speaker. White was given an attentive hearing.

There was no demonstration until he concluded. The Boies delegates arose and cheered, but the galleries appeared cold. To a young woman in the south terrace belonged the honor of forcing a demonstration, second only to that which followed the nomination of Bland. She was dressed in simple white. She mounted a chair and began waving a small American flag frantically to and fro. For fully a minute she was unobserved. Then some one noticed her. Eyes began to turn in her direction. She continued to wave the flag with a rhythmic motion, crying as she did so, "Boies, Boies, Boies."

The delegates got onto their chairs the galleries began to cheer and in another minute the Coliseum was aflame. As the demonstration grew, all eyes centered on the young woman in white, the Boies banner was carried from the pit up the terrace to where the striking figure stood; like a second Joan of Arc, urging on the nomination of Iowa's favorite son. The staff of the banner was placed in her hands and she swung it to and fro while the galleries yelled. Once she sank back exhausted by her efforts and the din was subsiding. But gathering her waning strength for a final effort she sprang up again and once more seizing the banner, she moved forward and was almost carried down the slope by the maddened crowd about her. Swiftly she went forward to the platform where the Iowa delegation came forward to meet her and escorted her with shouts to the place of the demonstration.

For 14 minutes the demonstration led by the girl in white kept up. Then order was restored. The young woman who had led 25,000 people proved to be Miss Minnie Murry of Nassau, Ia. This incident reminded old convention goers of the great Blaine demonstration at Minneapolis four years ago which was led by Miss Carson Lake of New York.

More oratory was a very tame amusement after what all the crowd had been witnessing. Still, A. D. Smith of Minnesota, who seconded Boies, was given a hearing.

John S. Rhea, who was introduced by Ollie James as Kentucky's young giant, to nominate "the south's greatest Democrat, Joe Blackburn," proved to be a typical southern orator of the fiery sort, so his ringing sentences brought quiet to the Coliseum. Mr. Rhea came under the wire with a true Kentucky finish, then the band seized the occasion while the Kentuckians were shouting to play "My Old Kentucky Home," which increased the enthusiasm. During the music an Alabama delegate led three cheers for Blackburn.

The Kentucky nomination was seconded by W. W. Foote, the chairman of California's delegation.

Several states failed to respond to the call, but when Massachusetts was reached, her chairman rose and said: "By the unanimous vote of their convention the Massachusetts delegation was unanimously instructed to place in nomination Governor Russell, but by his direction and because of the platform we decline to make a nomination."

Nebraska being called her chairman responded that she passed for the present, but at the proper time would take pleasure in casting her votes for "the man whom we honor and love, William Jennings Bryan."

McDermott of New Jersey brought down jeers and hisses upon his head by his defiant declaration "New Jersey does not desire to nominate any man on this platform."

When Ohio was called A. W. Patrick took the platform and nominated John R. McLean. The speech was a ringing one, paid tribute to McLean's work for silver through his paper and to his party record.

Pennsylvania being called, Mr. Harvitt, the chairman of the national committee and of the delegation, stated that he had no nomination to make at this time, but when the roll of states was called on to vote for president the delegates would express their preference.

Virginia was called and the chairman of the delegation announced that they had been instructed for Daniels, who declined to allow his name to be presented and the delegation would vote for Bland.

Wisconsin being called General Bragg said the state had no candidate to present on the platform adopted.

The roll of states was finished at 12:30. Then Senator Jones of Arkansas moved an adjournment. The Bryan adherents were not anxious to have the balloting postponed. There were cries for a vote, but the chairman put the question and after spectators as well as delegates had yelled "yes" and "no," declared the convention adjourned.

COTELL GUILTY.

Jury Returns a Verdict of First Degree Murder.

AKRON, O., July 10.—A verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree was returned in the case of Ronnie Cotell, aged 17, charged with killing Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stone and Ira Stillson March 28. His motive was to assault Flora Stone, their daughter. The weapon used with such deadly execution was a base ball bat.

The case attracted attention all over the country owing not only to the extreme youth of the convicted murderer, but the striking developments of the trial. One line of defense of Cotell's counsel was that he had been hypnotized by detectives and compelled to confess a crime of which he was innocent.

A female detective of Cleveland, however, is believed to have done more toward his conviction than any other one person, as in his cell Cotell confessed to her the full details of the crime.

In all probability Ronnie Cotell will be the first person to be electrocuted in Ohio under the new law which went into effect July 1, 1896.

A motion for a new trial will be argued in a few days. It is most unlikely it will be granted.

SHOT HIM DEAD.

A Postmaster Gets the Drop on a Man Robbing His Son.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Last night as W. E. Lemerise, postmaster of the suburb of Forest Park, was sitting in his parlor in company with his son, his two daughters, and two women visitors, the front door opened and a big negro carrying a big revolver walked in. He ordered young Lemerise to stand, and when he did so, told one of the girls to search the boy's pockets and hand over the money she found.

While this was going on, Mr. Lemerise quietly stepped in the next room, and getting his own revolver, blew out the negro's brains. It is thought the negro intended to rob the postoffice.

Disastrous Runaway.

WAMELSDORF, W. Va., July 10.—James Jackson and wife were killed and Mrs. Addison Kittle fatally and her husband badly injured in a runaway at Middleford bridge, on the Parkersburg and Stanton pike. They were returning from here in separate carriages. Both teams ran off and collided. The nearest physician was 18 miles away, and the injured persons suffered for hours without assistance.

Walking Back Home.

LIGONIER, Ind., July 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Bevenfort, a German couple, left Pittsburgh in the fall of 1894 to find a home in western Missouri. Reverses made them practically penniless, and they determined to return to Pittsburgh, where Bevenfort had worked in an iron mill. They started to journey overland, pushing a baby carriage containing a 15-months-old child. They arrived here yesterday.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky., July 10.—Lightning struck the store of A. G. Alford, in the southwestern portion of the county, and it was burned to the ground. The loss is about $2,400, with $1,600 insurance.

ENDEAVORERS' WORK

Thousands of Them Gathered Together in Washington.

TWO BIG TENTS WERE CROWDED.

Addresses of Welcome and Responses Made by Prominent Ministers—Annual Reports Made—It Has Been Decided That Next Year's Convention Will Be Held in San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Notwithstanding discouraging weather conditions, Christian Endeavorers, gathered by thousands in Washington, were early astir, making their way to the many churches set apart for the sunrise services.

After breakfast the delegates gathered again at the Big New York Avenue Presbyterian church to participate in a bible book study, conducted by President G. S. Burroughs, D. D., of Crawfordsville, Ind.

The great meetings in the big tents were originally fixed for 9:30 o'clock, but there were some unavoidable delays, owing to the damage done by the previous night's storm.

Tent "Williston" was abandoned and the Endeavorers who had intended to be present there were admitted to the remaining tents, Washington and Endeavor. They were calculated to accommodate 10,000 people each, but were crowded before the services began.

In tent Washington President Francis Clark of Boston, Mass., presided. The program opened with a prayer service, followed by devotional exercises, conducted by the Rev. F. D. Power of this city.

The address of welcome was delivered by W. H. H. Smith, chairman of the committee, which elicited an appropriate response from the Rev. R. J. Service of Detroit in behalf of the visitors.

The report of Secretary John Willis Buer and the annual address of President Francis E. Clark was then read.

The services in tent Endeavor were conducted by the Rev. Howard B. Grose of Boston. The exercises were exactly the same as in tent Endeavor.

All doubts as to the convention city for 1897 were removed last night when announcements were made at the various gatherings that the meeting of that year would be held at San Francisco.

While final arrangements with the railroads have not been consummated, the latter have assured the trustees that this will be done and the board have accepted their representations on this subject.

TWIN SHAFT DISASTER.

Two Witnesses Examined by the Board of Enquiry.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 10.—The hearing of evidence concerning the Twin Shaft disaster at Pittston was resumed yesterday. Edward Hughes, assistant track layer in the Twin mine for two years, testified that for six or seven months previous to the cave-in the mine was in a dangerous condition on account of the caving of the roof. He had always been afraid for six months before the accident, and on Saturday night, the night before the disaster, he became so frightened by the chipping and squeezing that he quit work.

Mine Inspector McDonald said he was called to the mine at 4:30 o'clock on Sunday morning and put in what he thought were pillars strong enough. He was never notified, he said, that a squeeze was going on in the mine.

Hearings will be continued.

DELAY IN COMPETITOR CASE.

Spain Also Said to Be Waiting For News From Chicago.

NEW YORK, July 10.—A dispatch to The World from Madrid says: Much anxiety is felt here concerning the opinion likely to be expressed by the American Democratic convention regarding Cuba and relations with Spain.

The Spanish government, I am able to state authoritatively, will delay the settlement of the claim of Dr. Delgado and will also delay the decision in the famous Competitor case until the Spanish parliamentary recess begins at the end of July, in order to avert embarrassing debates in the Spanish senate and house.

Strongly Guarded in Jail.

DUNQUE, Ia., July 10.—The sheriff of Jackson county has arrested two young men named Milburg and Eskerlebe on suspicion of being the murderers of Minnie Kiel, whose body was found in a pasture near Bellevue Saturday. There has been great excitement at Bellevue during the preliminary examination, but the excitement has somewhat subsided, and a strong guard surrounds the jail.

Drilling For Oil.

BRAZIL, Ind., July 10.—There is considerable suppressed excitement over the prospect hole being put down by the Brazil Gas, Oil and Mineral company. It has reached a depth of 1,200 feet, and is penetrating a strata of rock. Contractor Stevenson says that the strata passed through are exactly the same as found at Montpelier. He says the fate of the well will be known Saturday.

Passenger Train Derailed.

BERLIN, July 10.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Frankfurter Zeitung reports that a passenger train has been derailed near Batraki, on the Samara railway, in southeastern Russia. Forty persons were killed and injured. The accident was caused by obstructions placed on the rails. The authors of the act have not been traced.

FREE coinage of silver at 16 to 1 ratio is the privilege of taking 371 grains of pure silver to the mint and have it coined into a silver dollar, just as the holder of 23 22-100 grains of pure gold is at present permitted to go to the mint and have it coined into a gold dollar, paying only for the copper alloy.

The silver grains 371 25-100 divided by the gold grains 23 22-100 leaves as a quotient 15.98 which in round numbers is called 16. This represents the ratio of the dollar silver coin to the dollar gold coin.

The present silver dollars have been coined on Government account. The Government bought the bullion, coined it into dollars of a face value far beyond the cost of the silver, the difference, called seigniorage, going into the treasury as net profit.

All provisions for coinage of silver dollars were repealed in 1893, but the Government continues, as necessary, to buy silver to coin into 50, 25 and 10 cent pieces.

In 1834 the ratio between silver and gold, which since 1792 had been 15 to 1 for mint purposes, was changed to 16 to 1, while the ratio in the States of the European Latin Union was 15 1/2 to 1.

The result was the disappearance of silver from circulation in the United States, because the holder of 15 1/2 ounces of silver could get an ounce of gold for it in Europe, while under our mint law from 1834 to 1873 it took 16 ounces of silver to get an ounce of gold or its equivalent.

All the small silver change disappeared from our circulation, and in 1853 a mint law was passed debasing the fractional or subsidiary pieces which since then have been coined on Government account and do not contain in sums of one dollar as much silver as is contained in the dollar piece.

Silver being undervalued in this country between 1834 and 1873 it commanded a premium here in terms of gold, and as fast as silver was produced in the United States it was shipped to Europe where it was more highly valued in the Latin Union mints.

The United States mint law was revised in 1873 and all provision for the free coinage of a silver dollar was omitted.

The omission in 1873 of the silver dollar from coinage cut no figure at the time because under the ratio of 16 to 1 no silver was brought to our mints for coinage, and the entire silver product was exported. In the meantime the supply of silver was wonderfully increased by the discovery and opening of new mines, and the European nations one after another began closing their mints to the free and unlimited coinage of silver and began to adopt the gold standard. In this way silver was ruled out of the currency by the legislative acts of all the great commercial nations of Europe and America.

Now the proposition of the silver advocates is to attempt to restore the lost value of silver by the United States providing for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for any international agreement. The St. Louis platform says this can't be done; the Chicago platform will say it can be done and the voters of the country will express their opinion in November.

The New York World says: "The Republican candidate's speech of acceptance was characteristically shallow and sophistical. With his usual solemn face and tone he told his hearers that if his tariff law were restored the Treasury would have revenue enough and 'gold would come to us and not go from us in the settlement of trade balances.' Yet Mr. McKinley must know that his tariff cut down the revenues nearly $90,000,000, that there was an actual deficiency during the last three months of President Harrison's term, that there was a net loss to the country of over $120,000,000 in gold during the last Republican administration, and that the present revenue law is producing more money than his boasted bill did either in its first or its last year."

Rev. S. D. Durrence, of Austin Texas, arrived in Maysville this morning. He is a native of Sedalia, Missouri, and a graduate of Christian University of Canton, Missouri. He will preach at the Christian Church next Sunday morning and night.

NINTH DISTRICT.

The Democratic Executive Committee
 For This Congressional District
 Called to Meet Next Wednesday.

Now that the Democratic party in National convention assembled has adopted a platform the money question is settled and the duty of Democrats from now on is to acquiesce in the will of the majority, accept the platform and get together for a victorious sweep in November.

Remember if the platform don't please you it does please others and true democracy consists in giving obedience and allegiance to the platform and nominees when authoritatively announced in party convention.

This Congressional district is and of right ought to be Democratic. That it has occasionally gone Republican is due to Democratic indifference to party obligation. The district can and will be redeemed and brought back into the Democratic column if Democrats will put aside past differences and flop together. Now is a good time for Democrats to make up and face the common enemy. The Republicans have nominated Hon. Sam J. Pugh for Congress and Hon. James N. Kehoe, the Chairman of the Ninth District Democratic Executive Committee, has called upon the chairman of each county to meet him at the Central Hotel July 15, 1896, to name place and time for a Democratic Congressional convention and to agree upon manner and time of selecting county delegates to same.

There are thirteen counties in the Ninth Congressional district and besides fixing manner of selecting delegates and time and place for the convention the Executive Committee must also announce the basis of representation allowed each county. In all human probability each county will be allowed one vote for each 200 votes and fraction over 100 cast for General P. W. Hardin for Governor last November in State election. For general information we reproduce a tabulated statement of the vote for Bradley and Hardin in 1895:

Sure to Win.

The people recognize and appreciate real merit. That is why Hood's Sarsaparilla has the largest sales in the world. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures—absolutely, permanently cures. It is the one true blood purifier. Its superior merit is an established fact, and merit wins.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, headache.

Crash Costumes.

A few years ago a prediction that coarse kitchen toweling would one day be a fashionable dress fabric would have met with scorn, but today, amusing and absurd as it sounds, crash is made up into the neatest little morning costumes and is indorsed by the best tailors. There are various weaves and weights of crash. The coarse weaves are somewhat shaggy in surface, while the close mesh is smooth. The color ranges from eery to brown. Dresses made of this material are usually trimmed or finished only with a belt and collar of colored linen or duck. A wide, full skirt has been stitched, overlapped seams and an Eton jacket, which has flaring cuffs and rovers of green linen. Another has a blouse waist with a rolling collar and buttons of turquoise blue.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Sales Talk

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than accorded any other proprietary medicine. This is simply because it possesses greater merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy

IMBEDDED IN STONE.

Live Frog Found by Kentucky Quarrymen—Had Been There For Years.

[Exchange.]

A knotty problem was presented the other day to scientists by Gordon Williams and Stephen White, two stone quarrymen in the southeastern part of Fayette County, Ky., near the Kentucky river bluffs. The quarry in which the men were at work was opened a year ago, and has been industriously worked by various persons all that time. The character of the stone is the solid blue or Trenton limestone, as distinguished from the gray of later formation. It is thick and strong, many of its ledges running uniformly from four to six feet in thickness. Early one morning a blast of dynamite was put in two feet deep into a six-foot ledge and exploded. Then the work of removing the broken mass was begun.

Three feet from the upper surface of the stone, between two fragments of the broken stone, was found a fully developed frog in the solid rock, having only a cell the size of its body to mark its abode of ages. The space was a little more than half the size of a goose egg, but longitudinally, and in outline resembled the body of the frog. The little animal, when released from his prison life, seemed in no way disconcerted, took his own time to make his first hop, hesitated about the second, and when he had reached about a rod from the start stopped deliberately and scratched his left ear with the toes of his left hind foot. The question is, how did he get there, how long has he been there and upon what did he subsist during the ages of his confinement—solid stone at least two feet from the closest air hole?

Friday's Cash Sale

If you're short of money—and it's a complaint that a great many people seem to be suffering from—it's your bounden duty to yourself and your family to make what money you have to go as far as possible. Here is a chance to stretch it out to its fullest extent:

SHIRT WAISTS.—All our $1.00 and $1.25 ones for 50c. The stock is well assorted and every garment is reliable and desirable, perfect in fit and finish; we have no flimsy goods; we have none of the stuff that loses its color while you are carrying your bundle home. Almost as refreshing as the pretty, cool garments themselves, is the pleasure of selecting from such lots as are on our counters.

WASH SILKS.—The kind we sold earlier in the season at 29c. a yard we will offer at 15c. The stock is not large, so come early before the plums are selected. Somebody is losing; just how much you who know the value of fabrics can guess.

FRENCH PENANGS.—For Boys' shirt waists, dresses and wrap-pers; the 12 1/2c. kind for 10c. a yard. It's a big chance for the consumer to buy these dainty summer goods at a big drop from early season's prices. The hot weather is all ahead of us. There'll be a breeze among wash goods buyers when they read these offerings.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

The Maysville Club Once More Gives the Knoxville "Indians" What Paddy Gave the Drum.

Yesterday's Game Lacked Animation and the Boys Must Play With More Life.

Telegraph to Knoxville the "Injuns" were defeated again.

The local team with the aid of a few red men from the South put up a more interesting game yesterday, in consequence of which the local "rooters" are well pleased.

The crowd was not so large as yesterday, but the rain before noon of course prevented many from attending.

The rain, however, did not continue all day, and at the time for calling the game had ceased and the sun was making a feeble effort to get through the clouds (likewise the small boy trying to get through the board fence) and by the time the game was half over a more beautiful day was never recorded by the weather clerk. One miss was conspicuous by her absence at the game—"Anna-Mation" was detained at home, but she sent her old father, "A-Pathetic." A duller game was never played upon our grounds. There must have been something behind the scenes. If such was the case the letting the cat out might hurt. We hope the sleepiness has vanished and to-day's game will be characterized by that dash, snap and quickness which will keep the poor reporters on the jump from start to finish. Sutherland made the sensational and grand stand play of the game. A high fly was hit to extreme center; was sailing away good for a two-bagger, but Willie was under it, caught it, and quick as lightning, astonishingly so for him, wheeled and threw to first base and stopped the mad runner in his onward course, retiring the opposing side amid wild scenes of enthusiasm. The summary of to-day's game tells the work done:

The Trained Nurse.

This is the way the New York Medical Record discusses a quality of trained nurse that has become more or less familiar in every sick room:

A large majority of them seem to think that, after that strictly technical work is done, the proper thing is to sit down and tell the patients about all the cases they have ever seen or nursed in their lives. As a result the convalescent listener is left with her mind full of extraordinary pathological tales that have an unpleasant, fasting, and pernicious effect upon her mental make-up. The trained nurse of to-day, also, has so exalted her office that she is frequently unwilling to do anything but attend to purely technical work. The idea of touching a duster, or of attending to the care of the room, or of doing anything but pouring out medicine, putting on the proper applications, and taking temperatures in the most ladylike way, becomes revolting to the majority of them, so that one often sighs for the old-fashioned nurse, who would settle down and do everything for $10 a week.

Many a case of lasting megrims has been communicated to some convalescing patient by a nurse through a recital of her gruesome experiences. The mind is generally most susceptible in the period of convalescence. A mole-hill then assumes the proportions of a mountain. It is a period when a nurse would better serve her patient by carefully tying up her tongue.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Pitcher is on every wrapper.

FRANK HURD DYING.

Suffering From Three Strokes of Apoplexy and Can Not Long Survive.

TOLEDO, July 10.—Hon. Frank W. Hurd is dying at his room in the Boody House as a result of three strokes of apoplexy. The first stroke occurred about noon yesterday, the second at 5 o'clock, and the last at 10 o'clock. He rallied and became conscious during the evening, but has been unconscious since 10:30 o'clock last night and his death is but a matter of a few hours at the best.

He was born on Christmas day, 1841, and was admitted to the bar in his native county, Knox, when he was 21 years old. He was a member of the state senate shortly afterward. He came to Toledo in 1869; was twice elected city solicitor and three times to congress in the 70s, where he became famous as the most eloquent American advocate of free trade. He resumed the practice of law and became the leader of the Toledo bar.

He compiled the criminal code of Ohio and introduced the first law in the Ohio legislature permitting a defendant in a criminal case to testify in his own behalf. Mr. Hurd was a graduate of Kenyon college, became a convert to Catholicism during the war. His surviving relative is his sister, Mrs. Clark of Mount Vernon, O., who has been telegraphed for.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual condition, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.
